CLOSE CONTEST WITH RANDOLPH-MACON BROUGHT LOSS TO COLLEGE

Shiers on Mound for College Twirled Well. Brace taken in Eighth. Luck Feature of Game

William and Mary was defeated by Randolph-Macon in a close contest on Saturday. Shiers was again sent to the mound and pitched a fine game. Marsden, who twirled for the Yellow Jackets, would probably have yielded up the victory, though allowing but seven hits, had he not received exceptional support in the pinches, as well as being attended by good fortune.

In the first, Anderson walked, stole second, was pushed along by Tatem's sacrifice, and scored on Walker's ringing two-bagger. Bane hit safely in the second, and waltzed home on Gayle's single, while in the third period Anderson counted on Walker's hot smash over second, having reached first on a fozzled hot grounder. Shiers allowed but one scratched hit in the next four innings, but in the eighth Walker again singled. Ives pushed him to third with a bingle, and Bane walked. With the bases full, Addison muffed Lipscomb's hard fly after a long run, and Ives and Bane counted.

WILLIAM AND MARY RALLIES

In their half of the eighth, the locals set out to tie the score. Hubbard was safe on Midyett's error, but was thrown out at second on Shier's attempt to bunt, Shiers reaching first. Alfriend went in to run for Shiers, and went to the second bag when Dix drew a pass. Peachy then grasped his war club and rapped out a single that scored Alfriend and sent Dix to third. Garth having sized up the situation decided to knock a home-run, but cut loose with a two-bagger instead, cleaning up the bases, he taking third on the return, but dying in an attempt to get home on a wild throw. Wilson was safe on Midyette's error, but was nailed between second and third. This ended the scoring.

Walker starred for the Yellow Jackets, getting four of their eight hits, while the fast fielding of Alfriend and Addison was the feature of the locals' playing. Hubbard made his debut at first, playing errorless ball and getting on twice.

The Catalogue for the Session of 1911, '12 is now in press. It is expected some time during the month.

PAN-HELLENIC MEETING PROVED FUTILE. NO AGREEMENT POSSIBLE

Three Former Fraternity Germans Will Not Be Given This Year. Other Dances to be Arranged

Another meeting of the William and Mary Pan-Hellenic Council was held last week with the hope that some steps might be taken regarding a settlement of the Fraternity Germans during Finals. Dr. Montgomery and Dr. Wilson unofficially did every thing in their power to ameliorate the difficulty, but nothing could be decided upon, and it was permanently resolved to eliminate the three dances given heretofore by Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, and Pi Kappa Alpha.

TOO LATE IN THE SESSION

It was proposed that a Monday morning hop be given, and that the three fraternities mentioned, together with Theta Delta Chi cut for the respective dates. But this was never agreed upon by Theta Delta Chi, and the other three also declined to consider the matter on account of the lateness of the day, and the attendant difficulties that would present themselves for solution. It would be impossible for the organizations to give dances that would do justice to themselves and their past records at this time. The matter has now been definitely dropped. However there are some among the Faculty and Student-body who still hope to substitute other social features in the place of those abandoned, and so make of Finals the most attractive week possible under the circumstances.

SOUTHERN COLLEGE PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS

The Southern College Press Association held its initial session at the University of South Carolina from April 22 to 24 inclusive, at which session the organization of the association was perfected and officers elected as follows: President, Broadus Mitchell, University of South Carolina; first vice-president, Sam Latimer, Jr., University of South Carolina; second vice-president, Geo. P. Waller, Jr., University of Virginia; recording secretary, R. B. Jackson, William and Mary; corresponding secretary, B. D. Stephenson, University of North Carolina; treasurer, J. M. Workman, Clemson College.

TWO BEAUTIFUL PLAYS GIVEN BY THE COBURNS ON THE COLLEGE GREEN

Taming of the Shrew and Macbeth Attended By Large and Appreciative Audiences

The Coburn Players presented two beautiful Shakespearian plays, Taming of the Shrew, and Macbeth, on the Campus last Wednesday and Thursday evenings, respectively. The performances were both excellent and in every way above reproach. The costumes were rich and beautiful, and the acting of the highest and most artistic quality. On each night the audiences were large, and were marked for intelligence and appreciation.

TAMING OF THE SHREW WEDNESDAY

Taming of the Shrew was first offered. Never was a more delightful rendition of this pleasing comedy given. Although the Players appeared here for their first time this season, they well preserved the distinction which they have won during the past few years throughout the United States. The parts were skilfully performed by actors suited to the roles. Mrs. Coburn as Katherina was spirited enough; and Mr. Coburn as the shrewd Petruchio was more than pleasing. Miss Flowers was a beautiful Bianca, and Mr. Erlynn as the famous Grumio maintained throughout the reputation of that part. Messrs. Sanford and Howson as Bianca's suitors, Hortensio and Gremio, took their parts with feeling, and Miss Turner was a widow wonderful enough to fully repay the disappointed Hortensio for his loss. Mr. Currie was excellent as Biondello, servant to Lucentio.

MACBETH, SECOND PERFORMANCE

On Thursday evening Macbeth was given with as much success as tragedy, as the Shrew had been given the day preceding as comedy. The machinery of the whole was possibly not so smooth, but no material detraction resulted.

Mrs. Coburn again took the leading feminine role, and as Lady Macbeth represented well both the exquisite beauty of the flower, and the venom of the serpent beneath. Mr. Coburn as Macbeth was the strongest member of the caste, interpreting the wavering nature of Macbeth with all the vigor of a master. The porter scene as portrayed by Mr. Erlynn was never better acted. The witches were at once horrible

WILLIAM AND MARY DEBATING TEAMS LOST IN TWO CONTESTS LAST WEEK

Subject was Initiative and Referendum. Affirmative at Home, Negative in Richmond

In two very closely drawn debating contests on April 23, William and Mary met defeat at the hands of Randolph-Macon and Richmond College.

FIRST WITH RANDOLPH-MACON

Mr. C. H. Smith, first on the affirmative for the local team, delivered a very logical and well arranged speech in favor of the adoption of the Initiative and Referendum in Virginia. Next came Mr. Chapman, of Randolph-Macon, who delivered a good speech on the negative. Second on the affirmative was Mr. W. M. Harrison, and some of his caustic rebuttal comments drew forth applause. Mr. Edgar P. Nickolson, of Randolph-Macon, last speaker on the negative gave a fluent and pointed argument.

Randolph-Macon came back strong on rebuttal and this is perhaps what gave them the debate. The affirmative, having the burden of proof, needed more time for rebuttal than was available, though probably outclassing their opponents in their main argument.

RICHMOND ALSO VICTORIOUS

Messrs. E. B. Thomas and D. Griggs representing the College in Richmond made a very good showing, the vote of the judges being two to one.

Though William and Mary lost there is no cause to feel ashamed of the representatives. Their opponents had no walk-over and the local team made a very creditable showing, considering the fact that three of the local debaters had never been in a like contest before.

PRELIMINARY ORATORICAL CONTEST

The preliminary oratorical contest to select a representative to represent the College of William and Mary in the Virginia Oratorical Contest to be held here this spring was conducted by the literary societies in the Chapel Friday evening. Mr. Arthur W. James was the successful competitor with his oration entitled The Scholarship of Service. His opponents were Mr. Earl B. Thomas who spoke on The Duties of Modern Social Life, and Mr. Chas. H. Smith whose oration bore the title, The New Law of Nations.

A SERMON FOR SKEPTICS

Those of us who are given to dwelling under grey skies, with little faith in anything, must now for a while, if not forever, look through the clouds of pessimism and take unto ourselves a lesson from the ill-fated Titanic, the passing of which took from the world its greatest ship and recorded the most tremendous marine disaster of all time. The echoes of that horror still are running around the world. Not that as many individuals are not suffering as much daily, but that so many have never before been brought together in such spectacular tragedy, where bravery was so well-nigh universal, service for the weak so concerted, and chivalry so much a matter of course. Another chapter has been added to the glory of the Anglo-Saxon Race, the heir of every noble trait of mankind. In the veins of American men is the convergence of the best, not alone of their English forbears, but of every nation in the world,—firm, but not cruel; brave, without hope of reward; generous, and not courting praise. There, was determined valour worthy of Leonidas and Regulus; there, was love as great as that of Ruth and Eloise. Who will say that war alone produces bravery? Who will say that the great men have all gone from the earth? Who will say that this age is but the shadow of those that were? The women of the Titanic will not. Doubtless too they will be the last to ever clamour again for equal rights. That will-o'-the-wisp has been exploded for them, seeking safety. They now know that a woman is a woman, even in the Twentieth Century. A few remained with death, but that was from love—not from a sense of physical or civil equality.

AN UNFORTUNATE DEMONSTRATION

It would seem that the pedestal upon which the two hundred and nineteen year old dignity of the College of William and Mary rests was somewhat shaken Saturday before last when a crowd of spectators, including Faculty members, students and townspeople rushed out on the field in mob fashion to secure 'fair play' in a baseball game. We are far enough removed now from the incident to look upon it sanely, and in our opinion a more unfortunate spectacle has never happened on this hallowed soil. Whatever may have been a man's intent in rushing out of the grandstand, whether to prevent foul play, or a fight, he is equally in the wrong. Every person who walked out on Cary Field that day is censurable. The player who threw away the ball acted the part of a common ruffian, but that does not excuse the measures taken. Demonstrations of that kind are crude, if not savage. The presence of each individual augmented the duress that was thrown about both the visiting team and the umpire. Such is not needed here. We have officials to regulate athletic contests, and if they are not competent, then let us find some who are. It is better to lose a thousand games than to tarnish an ancient name, and it is neither good ethics nor passable morals to fight the Devil with fire.

IN THE NATURE OF FLATTERY

Last week THE FLAT HAT was retarded in its appearance by a lack in certain capital letters needed to set up the accounts of the Germans. Our order was not promptly filled, and during the wait our quarters at the Gazette Building were besieged by those eager to see the HAT. That was in the nature of the sincerest flattery. It was much appreciated too, but we must request our friends, subscribers, and readers not to repeat the performance. It is very annoying to the printers, and confusing to those in charge at the plant. Pursue the editors as much as you please, but never throw obstacles in the way of the machinery which manufactures the FLAT HATS.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

The foot paths along the side of the cement walks through the grounds very much mar the beauty of the Campus, and are entirely unnecessary. It may be more pleasant to walk on soft, green grass than on a hard pavement, but our common interest in the appearance of William and Mary should make us toe the mark, come up to the scratch, and walk the chalk line, even though there be no painted signs, 'Keep off the Grass.'

Dr. Montgomery is to be congratulated upon his successful efforts to have the Coburn Players here for two Shakespearean performances. No feature has added more to the pleasure of the spring than these plays.

General regret has been felt by the Student-body and by two or three members of the Faculty on account of the unfortunate confusion concerning Finals. However we hope that some other events may be arranged, as there is no spirit of retaliation on the part of the young men.

We have heard on good authority that some of the students along with some of the down town boys attended the Coburn plays by crawling under the canvas. If this is true, the guilty students should be dropped from the roll, and the town boys forbidden to come on the College grounds. If poverty were the cause they should have reported their unfortunate condition to the committee in charge, and doubtless they would have been allowed to walk in at the gate as gentlemen.

Miss Turner and Miss Flowers who take with Mrs. Coburn the leading feminine roles in the repertoire were both finished players as the respective characters of Gentlewoman and Donaldbain, and in this play as in the former received the highest praise.

The College was fortunate in having this troupe here and it is the general hope that an early return may be realized.

SOUTHERN COLLEGE PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS

The association takes its members from the South Atlantic states, from those colleges which support both weekly and monthly journals, and is composed of the following institutions: William and Mary, Clemson College, University of South Carolina, University of North Carolina, University of Georgia, University of Virginia, V. P. I., and Washington and Lee.

The problem of this first meeting was primarily one of organization. Addresses were made by the various delegates and by prominent newspaper men of South Carolina. Banquets, luncheons, motor trips and a dance were given by the Carolinians to the visiting delegates.

William and Mary, the smallest college to support both a weekly and monthly, was represented by R. B. Jackson of the Literary Magazine and THE FLAT HAT. The next session will be held at the University of Virginia at which time new members will be admitted.

MOTHER GOOSE PAGEANT

The Mathew Whaley School of the College will give a Mother Goose Pageant on May 10. The performance will take place in Player's Dell on the College Green at 4:30 o'clock. One hundred and fifty characters will march in the procession. General admission will be twenty-five cents, the proceeds to go to the playground fund.
